- 4. Mosonmagyaróvár. The old barracks at Mosonmagyaróvár were fixed up in October 1950 and occupied by a motorized Soviet artillery force with 50 guns having barrels about two meters long. They go in the direction of acqueshalom for firing practice. The vehicle park (about 150 in all) consists of jeep-like personnel carriers and cargo strucks of the Studebaker type.
- 5. The former infantry barracks on Leveli Street in Mosonmagyarovar were already occupied by Soviet troops in 1945. They were formerly used as stopover quarters for travel between Austria and the Soviet Union. In 1950 about 20 additional buildings were erected and the barracks were occupied by Soviet armored troops. Their current strength is about 5,000 men. Fifty or 60 tanks are parked in the courtyard of the new barracks.
- 5. Soviet engineers to the number of about 1,000 men have been stationed since the summer of 1950 in the engineer barracks at Mosonmagyardvár. This unit is equipped with about 50 metorized pontoons capable of transporting 35 or 40 men.
- 7. Veszprém. The new Veszprém Barracks were to have been occupied upon completion in August 1951 by a Hungarian dhit whateh had hearthying in a tent camp for a long time. Instead, the barracks were occupied unexpectedly by a coviet shifthereforce of about 3,000 men. The Hungarian troops are still in the tent camp except a small portion transferred to other places.
- E. Győr. The former "Jager" Barracks in the Vores Haddereg Utea (Street of the Red Army) at Győr are occupied by a Soviet armored battalion attached to the armored force at Hajmáskár. The battalion at Dyőr has 16 heavy tanks and two training tanks. The present commander is Colonal Karitonov. A Soviet motorized battalion and a Soviet infantry battalion are stationed in the former artillery barracks at Győr.
- 9. Papa Airfield. Hungarian air force personnel will be trained at the Papa Airfield. The field is under Soviet command, is occupied by Soviet flying units, and is guarded by Soviet ground personnel. It is surrounded by a barbed wire entanglement and can be entered only after strict examination. There are about 150 one-ongined fighter and about 25 training planes (biplane) at the field, all with Soviet insignia.
- 10. A Soviet parathooper unit of about 500 men is stationed at Szeged. There is a Soviet armomed force with about 50 heavy tanks at Nagykörös. Two armored buttalions are stationed at Cegléd: one in the former infantry barracks and the other in the barracks in Huszar Street. There are three Soviet artillery battalions in the neighborhood of Lajosmizse.
